

Emphasis and raw text

Wrap a word in underscores for emphasis (italic) and in asterisks for strong (bold). They nest: bold with italic inside reads fine.

Inline code goes in backticks: `run typst watch main.typ`. Inside raw text nothing is markup, so `this stays literal` and `_so does this_`.

For a whole block, fence it with three backticks and name the language:

```
fn main() {
    println!("Hello, Typst!");
}
```

The block keeps every space and line break exactly as typed, and the language tag turns on syntax highlighting.
