

A relative width scales against the surrounding space.
This image is 60% of the text width:

When you pin both width and height, `fit` decides what happens to the leftover space. Each box below is 4cm by 2cm; only the fit differs.

contain (whole image, letterboxed):

cover (fills the box, crops the overflow):

stretch (fills the box, distorts to do it):

